Governor's Riverland tour

The Governor of South Australia spent some time in the district yesterday, as part of his first full vice-regal visit to the region since 2008.

His Excellency Rear Admiral Kevin Scarce visited a number of local sites, including the Aquaponics Facility and Wild 'n' Fresh in Loxton North, as well as the Stormwater Reuse Project on the Loxton riverfront.

Governor Scarce also visited sites in Renmark and Berri yesterday, before attending a reception last night hosted by the three Riverland councils.

The governor is scheduled to depart for Adelaide this morning to host a luncheon.
